Functions

International Collaborative Reference Centres provide six main functions.

1. To maintain, develop, and enhance the clinical documentation for their given region/country to ensure congruence with the International Collaborative 10/40 Model.
2. To provide guidance, co-ordination, and support to the organisations across their given region or country to ensure the robust implementation and sustainability of the International Collaborative 10/40 Model.
3. To provide further education, training and support as requested by the organisations across their given region or country engaged in the International Collaborative 10/40 Model.
4. To collate implementation information from the organisations across their given region/country and submit an annual report to the International Executive Committee as described in Section 2.3 below.
5. To support organisations across their given region or country with the development of a quality assurance programme in line with health services' existing quality governance and risk framework.
6. To contribute the learning from the implementation and training of the organisations across their defined region or country back in to the International Collaborative for the furtherance of the International Collaborative 10/40 Model.

Annual reporting responsibilities

An International Collaborative Reference Centre will be expected to produce an Annual Report to the Executive Committee of the International Collaborative. The Annual Report will include:-

- Progress against the Action Plan
- The number of organisations it is supporting
- Documentation of any organisations that have received complaints/raised concerns
- Research and development activity
- Learning and teaching activity
- Quality assurance activity
- Key objectives for the year ahead.

To facilitate the collation of this report, the Reference Centre will require the organisations in its locality to provide the following information in relation to the 10/40 Model:

- The benefits and improvements in care following the implementation, including information on how this has been evaluated.
- A summary of the education and training provided to support implementation and sustainability
- An overview of research activity

- Key objectives for the following year
- Concerns or complaints from organisations regarding the International Collaborative 10/40 Model
- Concerns or complaints from relatives/families/carers regarding the use of the Care for the Dying Person documentation
- Suggestions for improvements or further development of the Care for the Dying Person documentation
